KAPY IS HELD

Under $2,000 Bond to Await a Possible Indictment by

CRIMINAL COURT GRAND JURY

WHICH WILL BE EMPANELLED NEXT MONDAY—COLONEL ARNETT APPEARED FOR THE PRISONER AND CONTENTED THAT THE ALLEGED FORGER COULD NOT BE LEGALLY HELD. MR. NESBITT CONTESTED THIS POSITION SUCCESSFULLY—AN ADMISSION BY KAPY.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, before Justice W. W. Rogers occurred the preliminary hearing of Sigmund Kapy, who was arrested in Louisville a few days ago and brought back to Wheeling to face the charge of passing a forged check on Proprietor E. B. Carney, of the Hotel Windsor. He was held under bond of $2,000 to await action by the criminal court grand jury, which will be empanelled next Monday morning, that being the opening day of the March term of the criminal court of Ohio county.

Colonel W. W. Arnett appeared as counsel for Kapy, and the state's interests were cared for by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Frank Nesbitt. The first witness was Mr. E. B. Carney, of the Hotel Windsor, who testified that Kapy obtained the sum of $40 from him recently, giving in exchange a check issued in his favor and signed by the Wilson-Fisher Company, of Cleveland. He had not hesitated to accommodate Kapy for the reason that he had before cashed checks for him that were all right. The check in question came back from Cleveland protested, and pronounced by the Wilson-Fisher Company to be a forgery. Thereupon he had, through the Hotel Men's Protective Association, taken steps to bring Kapy to justice.

Deputy Sheriff John W. Kindelberger was the next witness, and his evidence was of great importance. He is the officer who went to Louisville and brought back Kapy after his arrest there at the Galt House. He testified to the circumstances of his trip, and said that on the train en route from Louisville to Wheeling Kapy had asked him with what he was charged at Wheeling. Kindelberger related to Kapy the case as he knew it, whereupon Kapy said:

"I am sorry that I was so indiscreet." Colonel Arnett held that the state's case was not sufficient to hold the prisoner for the grand jury, and claimed that the rule of probable cause does not extend to the corpus delicti; the corpus delicti must be positively established, and the rule of probable cause extends only to the connection of the defendant with the crime already established.

Mr. Nesbitt, in answer to the colonel's argument, claimed that the state had first established the act, which was questionable, and had positively by identification connected Kapy with the act. Then by Kapy's remark to Kindelberger on the train, the state had shown ample cause to believe the transaction was the passing of a forged check.

At the conclusion of the arguments and testimony, Justice Rogers gave his decision, which was as stated above, that the prisoner be held under $2,000 bond to await the action of the criminal court grand jury.

NOTHING ACCOMPLISHED

In the Street Railway Matter at the Martin's Ferry Conference.

Nothing was accomplished at the conference last night between a committee of five from the Martin's Ferry council and George Duncan, representing the Wheeling Railway Company. At this conference the company made its first proposition to compromise, offering to pay the sum of $1,500 for the street paving in dispute, and drop the litigation. This offer was not acceptable.

Attorney George Duncan appeared for the street railway company, and made a proposition in behalf of the company and presented an application for an extension of the line to the upper end of Martin's Ferry, as an outline for an ordinance. Mr. Duncan said the company did not contract the debt for paving now in litigation, and does not owe this and ought not to pay it, but is willing to pay the sum of $1,500 in full settlement for the paving that is in dispute; that the company does not care to be in trouble with the city, but are not afraid of being ousted. In the ordinance proposed the company agrees to pay present values of brick paving on the streets used in the extension, the said extension to be completed within one year, privileges and rights as prescribed in the old ordinance.

Several members of council and the city solicitor stated that this proposition was the same as all those heretofore made, excepting the clause offering to pay $1,500.

A five-cent fare to Wheeling, and a one-cent fare for school children were asked for by the members of the committee, and City Solicitor Francis stated the Lash case on Broadway must be settled for dollar for dollar when the final adjustment is made.

Attorney Duncan said he had no authority to do anything further than stated, and on motion of Mr. Farnell the proposition was received, and the solicitor was instructed to take charge of the papers, and report the matter at next meeting of council, after which comes the adjournment.

BETHANY GLEE CLUB

Makes an Auspicious Debut for the Season of 1898.

The Bethany College Glee Club surprised and delighted a large audience of students, professors and citizens in the college chapel, at Bethany, last evening in its first appearance before the public for the season of 1898. All the members of the club possess good voices, and the careful training of Prof. Moor has brought these into perfect harmony. The most of their songs are classic, but they also sang a number of stirring college pieces with great success. The readings of Meade Moninger and Miller were fully up to the high character of the rest of the entertainment. Little Earle Biddle, the mascot of the club, with the archness and the pliancy of his reciting and singing made the happiest hit of the evening. No entertainment given in Bethany for a long time has afforded more genuine pleasure than the one last evening. The Glee Club will undoubtedly prove popular with the public if the boys do as well elsewhere as they did at Bethany. Following is the programme:

PARKER'S ASSAILANT FOUND.

He is at Dillonvale and His Wound is Quite Serious.

The perpetrator of the midnight assault on an old man named Parker, is Bridgeport recently, and who was shot by Parker in the struggle, has been located at Dillonvale, a mining town on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, seven miles west of Portland, on the Ohio river. His name is Marion Johnson, of St. Clairsville. He is about sixty years of age and while he has always been a little reckless in his habits, he has never been considered capable of burglary or assault such as Mr. Parker experienced. He was shot through the mouth and jaw and his wound is of such a serious nature that he cannot be removed at present. He formerly worked for Parker, and helped move him to the home where the assault was committed. It is thought that he must have accomplices who helped him to escape in his wounded condition.
